

Decentralization and Participative Management

1. Decentralization and participative management has been strictly adhered for the smooth functioning of the administration and ensuring a democratic work culture. Two such practices can be reflected here the operation of the smart classroom and 2 numbers of virtual classrooms of Shailabala Women's Autonomous College is a germane example of decentralization and participation of all departments. The classrooms are under an officer in charge. The department which require the rooms for seminar/ classroom purpose apply for requisition and the rooms are allotted accordingly on the specified date.

2. As the college has acquired Autonomous status since 2017 each department enjoys the liberty of making alterations and bringing about 20% changes in the syllabus and after it is unanimously decided in the Board of Studies meeting conducted by each department.
